NORTH TEXAS AUTHOR | MEDIA ONE-SHEET

CHARLES J. WITT

Southern humor. Deadpan absurdity. A whole lot of heart.

THE BOOK

Lantanas and Bandanas

A Story Collection

Nobody asked him to fix it. That has never stopped him.

Meet Federal Shartner: a resourceful Texas handyman with a faded red Ford pickup, a tuxedo bobtail cat named Pierre, and a habit of solving problems nobody assigned him. Federal is never trying to be funny. His logic is sincere, his methods are unorthodox, and his heart is in the right place.

Fifteen linked stories about small-town life, practical ingenuity, unlikely friendship, and the surprising kindness beneath the commotion.

PUBLICATION DETAILS

Published November 2026 | Independent fiction

Kindle $4.99 | Paperback $14.99

Title story first published in The Leghorn

READ A FREE STORY

theleghorn.com/lantanas-and-bandanas/

BUY THE FULL COLLECTION

amazon.com/dp/B0HQTL1RQL

THREE INTERVIEW / FEATURE ANGLES

01 WHAT WOULD FEDERAL DO?

Give the author a familiar household dilemma and find out how Federal would fix it.

02 HANDYMAN WITH A HEART

A funny, deeply sincere character whose strange methods often help people who need it.

03 DEADPAN BY DESIGN

Why the funniest character in these stories never realizes he is being funny.

ABOUT CHARLES J. WITT

Charles J. Witt is an Ellis County, Texas fiction writer whose work mixes Southern humor, deadpan absurdity, vivid everyday characters, and genuine compassion. Lantanas and Bandanas is his first published Federal Shartner collection.

MEDIA / INTERVIEW CONTACT

charlesjwittauthor@gmail.com | charlesjwitt.com

Press copy and interviews available on request